HONOURS AND AWARDS

VICTORIA CROSS

Name.	No.	Rank.	Battalion.	Date of L.G. notifying Award.
Lynn, J., D.C.M.	1272	Private	2nd	29/6/15

" For most conspicuous bravery near Ypres on 2nd May, 1915.

" When the Germans were advancing behind their wave of asphyxiating gas, Private Lynn, although almost overcome by the deadly fumes, handled his machine-gun with very great effect against the enemy, and when he could not see them he moved his gun higher up on the parapet, which enabled him to bring even more effective fire to bear, and eventually checked any further advance.

" The great courage displayed by this soldier had a fine effect on his comrades in the very trying circumstances.

" He died the following day from the effects of gas poisoning."

(Extract from London Gazette dated 29/6/15.)

Willis, R. R.	—	Captain	1st	24/8/15
Richards, A.	1293	Serjeant
Keneally, W.	1809	Private

" On the 25th April, 1915, three companies and the headquarters of the 1st Battalion, Lancashire Fusiliers, in effecting a landing on the Gallipoli Peninsula to the west of Cape Helles, were met by a very deadly fire from hidden machine guns, which caused a great number of casualties. The survivors, however, rushed up to and cut the entanglements, notwithstanding a terrific fire from the enemy, and, after overcoming supreme difficulties, the cliffs were gained and the position maintained. Amongst many gallant officers and men engaged in this most hazardous enterprise, Captain Willis, Serjeant Richards and Private Keneally have been selected by their comrades as having performed the most signal acts of bravery and devotion to duty."

(Extract from London Gazette dated 24/8/15.)

Bromley, C.	—	Captain (temporary Major)	1st	15/3/17
Stubbs, F. E.	1506	Serjeant
Grimshaw, J.	2609	Corporal

" On April 25th, 1915, headquarters and three companies of the 1st Battalion, Lancashire Fusiliers, in effecting a landing on the Gallipoli Peninsula to the west of Cape Helles, were met by very deadly fire from hidden machine guns, which caused a great number of casualties. The survivors, however, rushed up to and cut the wire entanglements, notwithstanding the terrific fire from the enemy, and, after overcoming supreme difficulties, the cliffs were gained and the position maintained.

Name.	No.	Rank.	Battalion.	Date of L.G. notifying Award.

" Amongst the many very gallant officers and men engaged in this most hazardous undertaking, Captain Bromley, Serjeant Stubbs and Corporal Grimshaw have been selected by their comrades as having performed the most signal acts of bravery and devotion to duty.

" The above awards of the Victoria Cross are to be read in conjunction with those conferred on the following for most conspicuous bravery on the same occasion :—

Captain R. R. Willis.
No. 1293 Serjeant A. Richards.
No. 1809 Private W. Keneally."

(Extract from London Gazette dated 15/3/17.)

[Note.—The phrase "selected by their comrades", used in both the foregoing citations, should be explained, especially as several conflicting accounts have been heard of the circumstances in which the unique award of six Victoria Crosses to one unit for one action came to be made. From statements made by officers present at the time, it appears that Major-General A. Hunter-Weston, then commanding the 29th Division, directed the 1st Lancashire Fusiliers to submit six names for the Victoria Cross for "Lancashire Landing." His General Staff Officer, 1st Grade, Colonel O. C. Wolley-Dod, D.S.O., of the Regiment, was given the above six names by the Commanding Officer, Major H. O. Bishop. The latter had consulted the officers who happened to be with him at the time and who did not include either of the officers awarded the Cross. General Hunter-Weston put forward all the names, adding that he considered that a collective act of gallantry had been performed, though Colonel Wolley-Dod warned him that this phrase was likely to cause difficulties in view of certain precedents from previous wars. The War Office ruled that, as "a collective act of gallantry" was involved, only four Victoria Crosses could be given. and that the battalion was to choose one officer, one N.C.O. and two privates for the honour.

By this time, Major Bishop and all other officers present at the Landing had left the 1st Battalion and there were, indeed, very few survivors of it of any rank with the battalion, so great had been the wastage in three months. Eventually the names of Captain R. R. Willis, Serjeant A. Richards, Private W. Keneally and Lance-Corporal J. Grimshaw were sent forward by the battalion. The first three were at once awarded the Victoria Cross, but the War Office took exception to the recommendation in favour of Grimshaw on the ground that he was a lance-corporal and therefore a N.C.O., thereby disregarding the rule that "lance-corporal" is only an appointment and that its holder's rank is private.

Over a year later, Brigadier-General O. C. Wolley-Dod, C.B., D.S.O., then an Inspector of Infantry, had an opportunity of raising the matter again with the Military Secretary to the Secretary of State for War, Lieutenant-General Sir F. J. Davies, K.C.B., K.C.M.G., who had commanded the VIII Corps on the Gallipoli Peninsula. In particular he mentioned Captain C. Bromley who had done magnificent work at all stages until he was wounded on 28th June, 1915, and who was drowned in the torpedoing of the hospital ship s.s. Royal Edward without receiving any reward for his services. General Davies promised to do what he could. A few weeks later, Victoria Crosses were awarded to Captain C. Bromley, Serjeant F. E. Stubbs and Lance-Corporal J. Grimshaw. When General Wolley-Dod went to thank the Military Secretary, the latter replied by thanking him "for having brought to light a case of gross injustice."]

Hutchinson, J. ... 2579 Private ... ... 2nd/5th ... 9/9/16

" For most conspicuous bravery. During an attack on the enemy's position this soldier was the leading man, and, entering their trench, shot two sentries and cleared two of the traverses.

" After our object had been gained and retirement ordered, Private Hutchinson, on his own initiative, undertook the dangerous task of covering the retirement, and he did this with such gallantry and determination that the wounded were removed into safety. During all this time this gallant soldier was exposed to fierce fire from machine guns and rifles at close quarters."

(Extract from London Gazette dated 9/9/16.)

Best-Dunkley, B.	—	Captain (temporary Lieutenant-Colonel)	2nd/5th ...	6/9/17

" For most conspicuous bravery and devotion to duty when in command of his battalion, the leading waves of which, during an attack, became disorganized by reason of rifle and machine-gun fire at close range from positions which were believed to be in our hands.

" Lieutenant-Colonel Best-Dunkley dashed forward, rallied his leading waves, and personally led them to the assault of these positions, which, despite heavy losses, were carried.

" He continued to lead his battalion until all their objectives had been gained. Had it not been for this officer's gallant and determined action it is doubtful if the left of the brigade would have reached its objectives.

" Later in the day, when our positions were threatened, he collected his battalion headquarters, led them to the attack, and beat off the advancing enemy.

' This gallant officer has since died of wounds."

(Extract from London Gazette dated 6/9/17.)

Lister, J. ... 8133 Serjeant ... ... 1st 26/11/17

" For most conspicuous bravery in attack. When advancing to the first objective, his company came under machine-gun fire from the direction of two ' pill-boxes.' Seeing that the galling fire would hold up our advance and prevent our troops keeping up with the barrage, Serjeant Lister dashed ahead of his men and found a machine gun firing from a shell-hole in front of the ' pill-box.' He shot two of the enemy gunners and the remainder surrendered to him. He then went on to the ' pill-box ' and shouted to the occupants to surrender. They did so with the exception of one man, whom Serjeant Lister shot dead ; whereupon about 100 of the enemy emerged from shell-holes farther to the rear and surrendered.

" This non-commissioned officer's prompt act of courage enabled our line to advance with hardly a check and to keep up with the barrage, the loss of which might have jeopardized the whole course of the local battle."

(Extract from London Gazette dated 26/11/17.)

Cassidy, B. M. ... ... Second-Lieutenant 2nd 3/5/18

" For most conspicuous bravery, self-sacrifice, and exceptional devotion to duty during a hostile attack. At a time when the flank of the division was in danger, Lieutenant Cassidy was in command of the left company of his battalion, which was in close support. He was given orders prior to the attack that he must hold on to his position to the last. He most nobly carried this out to the letter. The enemy came on in overwhelming numbers and endeavoured to turn the flank. He, however, continually rallied his men under a terrific bombardment. The enemy were several times cleared out of the trench by his personal leadership. His company was eventually surrounded, but Lieutenant Cassidy still fought on, encouraging and exhorting his men until he was eventually killed. By his most gallant conduct the whole attack was held up at this point and the left flank was undoubtedly saved from what might have been a disaster."

(Extract from London Gazette dated 3/5/18.)

Name.	No.	Rank.	Battalion.	Date of L.G. notifying Award.
Schofield, J. ...	—	Temporary Second-Lieutenant	2nd/5th ...	28/6/18

" For most conspicuous bravery and devotion to duty in operations. Second-Lieutenant Schofield led a party of nine men against a strong point which was reported strongly held by the enemy, and was attacked by about 100 of the enemy with bombs. He disposed his men so skilfully, and made such good use of rifle and Lewis-gun fire, that the enemy took cover in dugouts. This officer himself then held up and captured a party of twenty. With the help of other parties this position was then cleared of the enemy, who were all killed or captured. He then collected the remainder of his men, made his party up to ten, and proceeded towards the front line, previously informing his Commanding Officer as to the position, and that he was proceeding to retake the front line. He met large numbers of the enemy in a communication trench in front of him and in a drain on his right and left. His party opened rapid rifle fire, and he climbed out on to the parapet under point-blank machine-gun fire, and, by his fearless demeanour and bravery, forced the enemy to surrender. As a result 123 of the enemy, including several officers, were captured by Second-Lieutenant Schofield and his party. This very gallant officer was killed a few minutes later."

(Extract from London Gazette dated 28/6/18.)

Halliwell, J. ...	9860	Lance-Corporal ...	11th ...	... 25/7/18

" For most conspicuous bravery and determination displayed during the withdrawal of the remnants of the battalion when closely engaged with the enemy. Lance-Corporal Halliwell, having captured a stray enemy horse, rode out under heavy rifle and machine-gun fire and rescued a wounded man from ' No Man's Land.' He repeated this performance several times, and succeeded in rescuing one officer and nine other ranks. He made another effort to reach a wounded man, but was driven back by the very close advance of the enemy. His conduct was magnificent throughout, and was a splendid and inspiring example to all who saw him."

(Extract from London Gazette dated 25/7/18.)

Smith, E., D.C.M.	51396	Corporal (Lance-Serjeant)	1st/5th	... 22/10/18

" For most conspicuous bravery, leadership and personal example during an attack and in subsequent operations.

" Serjeant Smith, while in command of a platoon, personally took a machine-gun post, rushing the garrison with his rifle and bayonet. The enemy, on seeing him advance, scattered to throw hand grenades at him. Regardless of all danger, and almost without halting in his rush on the post, this N.C.O. shot and killed at least six of the enemy. Later, seeing another platoon requiring assistance, he led his men to them, took command of the situation and captured the objective.

" During the enemy counter-attack on the following day he led a section forward and restored a portion of the line. His personal bravery, skill and initiative were outstanding, and his conduct throughout exemplified magnificent courage and skill and was an inspiring example to all."

(Extract from London Gazette dated 22/10/18.)

Colley, H. J., M.M.	40684	Private (acting Serjeant)	10th	22/10/18

" For most conspicuous bravery and initiative when in command of a platoon in support of forward platoons which had been ordered to hold on at all costs.

" When the enemy counter-attacked in force, he rushed forward on his own initiative to help the forward line, rallying and controlling the men holding it. The enemy by this time were advancing quickly, and had already obtained a footing in the trench. Serjeant Colley then formed a defensive flank and held it. Out of the two platoons only three men remained unwounded, and he himself was dangerously wounded.

" It was entirely due to Serjeant Colley's action that the enemy were prevented from breaking through, and were eventually driven off. His courage and tenacity saved a very critical situation."

(Extract from London Gazette dated 22/10/18.)

Lester, F. ...	51674	Private (acting Corporal)	10th	14/12/18

" For most conspicuous bravery and self-sacrifice during the clearing of the village of Neuvilly on October 12th, 1918, when, with a party of about seven men under an officer, he was the first to enter a house from the back door, and shot two Germans as they attempted to get out by the front door.

" A minute later a fall of masonry blocked the door by which the party had entered. The only exit into the street was under fire at point blank range. The street was also swept by the fire of machine guns at close range. Observing that an enemy sniper was causing heavy casualties to a party in a house across the street, Private Lester exclaimed, ' I'll settle him !' and, dashing out into the street, shot the sniper at close quarters, falling mortally wounded at the same instant.

" This gallant man well knew it was certain death to go into the street, and the party opposite was faced with the alternative of crossing the fire-swept street or staying where it was and being shot one by one.

" To save their lives he sacrificed his own."

(Extract from London Gazette dated 14/12/18.)

Clarke, J. ...	37721	Serjeant (acting Company-Serjeant-Major)	15th	6/1/19

" For most conspicuous bravery and initiative during the attack at Happegarbe on November 2nd, 1918, when in command of a platoon. He led his men forward with great determination, and, on being held up by heavy machine-gun fire, rushed forward through a thick, strongly held hedge, captured in succession four machine guns, and single-handed bayoneted the crews.

" Later he led the remnants of his platoon to the capture of three machine guns and many prisoners.

" In the later stages of the attack on the same day, when his platoon was held up by enemy machine guns, he successfully led a tank against them over very exposed ground.

" Continuing the attack on November 3rd, after capturing many prisoners and gaining his objective, he organized his line most skilfully and held up the enemy.

" On November 4th, in the attack on the Oise–Sambre Canal, under heavy fire from the canal bank, he rushed forward with a Lewis-gun team in the face of an intense barrage, brought the gun into action, effectively silenced the enemy's fire, thus enabling his company to advance and gain their objectives.

" Throughout the whole of these operations Serjeant Clarke acted with magnificent bravery and total disregard of personal safety and by his gallantry and high sense of duty set an inspiring example to all ranks."

(Extract from London Gazette dated 6/1/19.)

Marshall, J. N., M.C.	—	Lieutenant (acting Lieutenant-Colonel)	Irish Guards (Supplementary Reserve) (attached 16th)	13/2/19

" For most conspicuous bravery, determination and leadership in the attack on the Sambre–Oise Canal, near Catillon, on the 4th November, 1918, when a partly constructed bridge came under concentrated fire and was broken before the advanced troops of his battalion could cross. Lieutenant-Colonel Marshall at once went forward and organized parties to repair the bridge. The first party were soon killed or wounded, but by personal example he inspired his command, and volunteers were instantly forthcoming. Under intense fire and with complete disregard of his own safety, he stood on the bank encouraging his men and assisting in the work, and when the bridge was repaired attempted to rush across at the head of his battalion, and was killed while doing so. The passage of the canal was of vital importance, and the gallantry displayed by all ranks was largely due to the inspiring example set by Lieutenant-Colonel Marshall."

(Extract from London Gazette dated 13/2/19.)

[Note.—The Regiment has always claimed that 18 Victoria Crosses were conferred upon it. But the War Office held that as Lieutenant-Colonel J. N. Marshall, V.C., M.C., belonged to the Irish Guards and was only attached to the 16th Lancashire Fusiliers while commanding it, his Victoria Cross must be credited to the Irish Guards. Lord Stamfordham, Private Secretary to His Majesty King George V, in a letter to the Adjutant-General to the Forces, dated 19th June, 1924, asked that the Colonel of the Regiment might be informed "how impressed His Majesty was when he heard that during the Great War 17 Victoria Crosses were conferred upon the Regiment. This in addition to the fact that thirty battalions were engaged and gained fifty-six Battle Honours, must be a unique record."]

CHAPTER II

THE COMMANDING OFFICERS OF THE BATTALIONS

IN SPITE of careful research and much correspondence, it has not been possible to ensure the complete accuracy of the lists which follow, particularly as to the dates of tenure.

The following principles have been adopted in compiling them :—

(a) The rank shown against an officer's name is the highest held by him during the tenure of command to which it refers, whether it was substantive, temporary or acting.

(b) The decorations shown are those to which an officer was gazetted, or which he held, during the tenure covered by the entry, and do not therefore include any awarded to him later.

(c) In general, only officers officially appointed to permanent command are shown. Where there is a gap in date between two Commanding Officers, it should be assumed that the next senior officer present with the battalion acted as Commanding Officer in accordance with the normal custom of the Service. When a gap of more than a day or two between two permanent appointments coincided with a period of heavy fighting and great responsibility therefore fell on the acting Commanding Officer, his name is recorded wherever possible. It should equally be remembered that, during the later stages of the war, either the Commanding Officer or his second-in-command stayed out of each battle with the "10 per cent. Reserve" : the officers shown in the following lists may not therefore have been in actual command of their units during every engagement fought in their tenure ; but the name of the officer in actual command in a battle has in almost every case been recorded in the narrative at the beginning of the account of it.

(d) Unless otherwise stated, Commanding Officers were officers of the Regiment, though the battalion of it to which they originally belonged is not specified.

The research for this chapter was carried out by Major L. B. L. Seckham, M.C.

CHAPTER III

BATTALION SIGNS

IT APPEARS to have been in the spring of 1916 that all units, as well as formation headquarters, began to display on their uniforms and vehicles distinguishing signs which would identify them readily to the initiated without obviously disclosing their titles to the enemy.

In most cases these unit signs were worn by all ranks just below the collar at the back of the service dress jacket, so as to enable troops coming forward to identify those in front. Divisional signs were usually worn on the sleeve close below the shoulder.

The plate which follows shows the signs worn by the active battalions of the Regiment. Except where otherwise stated, they were worn as just described. The 12th and 23rd Battalions wore no sign except that of their respective divisions, the 22nd and 40th, of which illustrations appear in "Divisional and Other Signs," compiled by Captain V. Wheeler-Holohan and published in 1920 by John Murray.

The signs given in this chapter were painted by the compiler's mother, Mrs. Cecil Latter, whose pictures are signed "Ruth Latter," from information supplied by the Imperial War Museum, to whose staff thanks are due for the help and facilities given.

The compiler very much regrets the accidental omission of the 1/6th Battalion sign from the coloured sheet opposite page 96 of this Volume. It was similar to that worn by the 1/5th, 1/7th and 1/8th Battalions.

CHAPTER V

SUMMARY OF OFFICERS AND OTHER RANKS KILLED AND DIED OF WOUNDS OR DISEASE

1. The table which follows has been based on the Roll of Honour described in Chapter VI, supplemented and corrected by information from the Regimental Annuals, Battalion War Diaries, Cemetery Registers and personal recollection.

2. The numbers shown against each battalion are of those who were serving with it at the time of their death, or immediately before it in the case of deaths from wounds or disease, so far as it has been possible to establish the postings.

3. Officers and other ranks who were attached to the Machine Gun Corps and other regiments are included in a special column of the table, while those who had been transferred to units outside the Regiment are not included. Those known to have been serving with light trench mortar batteries have been counted with the battalions from which they had been detached for this duty, wherever possible.

4. The registers of the cemeteries maintained by the Imperial War Graves Commission, which the compiler was enabled to consult through the courtesy and help of the officials of the City of York Public Library, have provided later information as to the battalions with which casualties were serving at the time of their death than was available when the Roll of Honour was compiled. This accounts in part for differences between the two documents. It has, however, not been possible to check the records of all cemeteries by this means for two reasons. First, many cemeteries, especially those begun early in the war, were damaged or destroyed in later fighting; and secondly, burials on or near a battlefield had often to be conducted under conditions which made accurate records of graves impossible. Thus, in Lancashire Landing Cemetery, only two out of the eighty-four graves known to be the resting-place of members of the 1st Battalion can be identified by name; while many cemeteries in France and Flanders, in areas in which battalions of the Regiment fought, contain large numbers of unidentified graves. The figures given in the table can therefore be regarded as only approximately accurate, either in total or in detail.

CHAPTER VI

THE COMMEMORATION OF THE FALLEN AND THE CARE OF THE SURVIVORS AND OF THE DEPENDENTS

Introduction

For many generations it has been the pious custom to commemorate in some visible form those who have given their lives for their country. In the days when wars involved comparatively small numbers, local and regimental memorials commonly bore the names of those in whose honour they were erected ; but, as the war of 1914-1918 drew into the Forces of the Crown such a large proportion of the manhood of the country and as its unexpected nature, with prolonged trench warfare, heavy and lengthy bombardments and frontal attacks by large numbers, brought in its train casualties of a severity hitherto undreamt of, few of its memorials could be large enough to carry all the names concerned. The honouring of the individual had perforce to be transferred from stone to paper except for single units, limited groups or small places.

The inscription of all the names of the 13,642 fallen of the Regiment on a stone memorial would moreover have been much more costly than their inclusion in a printed roll of honour. A change in public opinion on the debt owed to those who had fought and to their dependents led to a conviction that it was wrong to spend unduly large sums of money on stone and brass but that the honouring of the dead should mainly take the form of conferring some practical benefit on the living.

For these reasons it was decided that the Regiment's War Memorial should have the twofold object of commemorating its glorious dead and of being a practical tribute to its deeds. The memorial consisted of an obelisk placed at the entrance to Wellington Barracks, at Bury ; of bound Rolls of Honour containing the names of all the fallen ; a set of silver drums and bugles ; and a cheque to the Lancashire Fusiliers Compassionate Fund. It was inaugurated at the Depot at Wellington Barracks, Bury, on 25th April, 1922. The arrangements for carrying the scheme into effect were in the hands of a small executive committee under the chairmanship of the late Colonel G. E. Wike, V.D., D.L., an indefatigable and invaluable worker for many years in all regimental causes, to whom further reference will be made in later pages of this chapter. In addition, some battalions of the Regiment put up their own or were specially honoured in local memorials.

All these forms of commemoration and certain other matters closely linked with them, such as the Prisoners of War Fund and Committees, local funds, and the Regimental Museum, are dealt with more fully below.

The Visible Memorials

The Obelisk at Wellington Barracks, Bury

This, the only memorial of its kind covering the whole Regiment, was designed by Sir Edwin Landseer Lutyens, R.A., the creator of the Cenotaph in Whitehall, who gave his services without fee as he was the son of Captain Charles Lutyens of the Regiment and nephew of Major Engelbert Lutyens, an officer of the 20th Foot from 1803 to his death in 1830 and Orderly Officer to Napoleon at Saint Helena from 9th February, 1820, to 15th April, 1821. As the photograph opposite page 184 of this volume shows, it consists of three steps leading up to a square pedestal on which stands an octagonal granite block bearing on the south side, facing the Bury–Bolton Road, the words

TO THE
LANCASHIRE FUSILIERS THEIR
DEEDS AND SACRIFICES
FOR
KING AND COUNTRY

Surmounting this block is an obelisk of Portland stone with on its base and, near the top, the Regimental fuse above "XX," both encircled with a wreath. It is flanked by copies in coloured enamelled stone of the King's Colour on the west and the Regimental Colour on the east.

The diameter of the base of the monument is 16 feet 11 inches ; the height of the obelisk 13 feet 8 inches ; and the overall height of the whole 22 feet 6¾ inches. The monument stands in the centre of the short approach from the Bury–Bolton road to Wellington Barracks, Bury, and was erected by Messrs. John Tinline, of Bury.

It was unveiled on 25th April, 1922, by Lieutenant-General Sir Beauvoir de Lisle, K.C.B., K.C.M.G., D.S.O., General Officer Commanding-in-Chief, Western Command, and former commander of the 29th Division (in which the 1st Battalion served throughout the war), in the presence of Major-Generals Sir R. H. K. Butler, K.C.B., K.C.M.G., and G. H. B. Freeth, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., both former Commanding Officers of the 2nd Battalion, Brigadier-General T. S. H. Wade, D.S.O., and other officers and past officers and members of the Regiment, the Mayors of Bury, Rochdale and Salford, and a large number of subscribers and the general public. Colonel John Hall, V.D., former Commanding Officer of the 5th and 2nd/5th Battalions, who succeeded Colonel George Wike as chairman of the Memorial Committee on the latter's death on 2nd December, 1921, presided over the ceremony.

Memorials in the Parish Church of Saint Mary the Virgin, Bury

As there is no cathedral of the Church of England in the regimental area, it has never been possible for the Regiment to have set aside for its memorials one of the often numerous chapels to be found in cathedrals, as has been the case with many regiments. But successive rectors of Bury, notably the Right Reverend Bishops J. C. Hill and H. L. Hornby, M.C., have made Bury Parish Church fully as much a home for the Regiment and some of its most sacred treasures as any dean and chapter could possibly have done.

Below is given a list of memorials of Regimental interest, arising out of the 1914-1918 War, set out in the order in which they will be seen by a visitor entering the church by the west door and, after the first item, moving eastward along the north aisle :—

(1) Book containing the Roll of Honour, described in greater detail later in this chapter ; this copy has a special and very handsome brown leather cover, in the four corners of which are red enamelled roses, while in the centre is the Regimental crest in red and gold surrounded by a green laurel wreath.

(2) Wooden cross taken from the grave of Private J. Lynn, V.C., D.C.M., in Vlamertinghe Cemetery when a permanent headstone was put over it.

(3) Above this cross, a list of all the Colours in the Church, including several laid up before the 1914-1918 War and therefore not shown below.

This beautiful and unique memorial is of Italian Botticino marble of a soft amber colour, highly polished; and the surrounding moulding is of a French Lunel marble of a slightly darker tone, carved with a cable enrichment. The anchors and roses at the corners, with the crest of H.M.S. Euryalus between the anchors, are carved out of the face of the marble and gilded. The Regimental crest, supported by two dolphins symbolizing the Royal Navy, surmounts the whole and is carved in strong relief in alabaster and tinted in heraldic colours. The tablet was designed by Mr. J. Hubert Worthington, O.B.E., F.R.I.B.A., a former assistant to Sir Edwin Lutyens, and executed by Messrs. Earp, Hobbs and Miller, of Manchester. During the annual Gallipoli commemoration service on 27th April, 1930, it was dedicated by the Rt. Rev. J. C. Hill (Rector of Bury and Bishop of Hulme); and, on the invitation of the Rev. D. Jones (who was Chaplain of H.M.S. Euryalus at the Landing) on behalf of the donors, it was unveiled by Admiral of the Fleet Lord Wester Wemyss, G.C.B., C.M.G., M.V.O., who flew his flag as rear-admiral commanding the squadron at Cape Helles in H.M.S. Euryalus. Over it were laid up on 29th April, 1934, the old Colours of the 1st Battalion when these had been replaced by a new set presented by H.R.H. The Duke of Gloucester. And over them hangs a wreath of fresh laurels, provided and periodically renewed by Major A. H. Peacock, T.D., and his sister.

High up, at the top of the columns of the nave, but none the less reverently cared for and dusted, are laid up Colours of some of the battalions of the Regiment. Starting from the west and going clockwise round the nave, one will find those of the following units, excluding those not concerned with the 1914-1918 War :

23rd Battalion
18th Battalion
12th Battalion
10th Battalion
2nd Battalion
3rd/5th Battalion

The pike of the Regimental Colour of the 2nd Battalion carries a wreath of fresh laurels, provided and periodically renewed by Major A. H. Peacock, T.D., and his sister.

Memorials in Salford

The ancient Borough of Salford contributed eleven battalions to the Regiment and their losses are worthily honoured in several places within its boundaries.

First, in Albion Place, there is a cenotaph (of which a photograph appears opposite page 188), twenty feet high, surmounted by a Sphinx, beneath which and at each angle of four large panels is carved the Rose of Lancaster. On the front panel, facing Windsor Crescent, is embossed the Regimental badge ; and under this is the following inscription :—

IN MEMORY OF
THE OFFICERS, WARRANT OFFICERS, N.C.OS. AND MEN OF
THE 1/7TH, 2/7TH, 3/7TH, 1/8TH, 2/8TH, 3/8TH
15TH, 16TH, 19TH, 20TH AND 21ST
BATTALIONS
THE LANCASHIRE FUSILIERS
AND OF
THE OFFICERS, WARRANT OFFICERS, N.C.OS. AND MEN
OF SALFORD SERVING IN OTHER BATTALIONS
OF THE REGIMENT WHO GAVE THEIR LIVES IN THE GREAT WAR
1914–1919

The top of each of the side panels carries a large carved wreath, with the words "Gallipoli, Salonica, Sinai" beneath it on the eastern panel and "France, Belgium, Egypt" on the western. On the back of the base, facing the Fire Station, appears the following :

> "This Memorial Was Erected By The Lancashire Fusiliers (Salford) War Memorial Committee And Was Unveiled By The Rt. Hon. The Earl of Derby, K.G., P.C., G.C.B., G.C.V.O., On The 17th July, 1922.
> Nearly Three Quarters of the Money Raised Was Handed To The Lancashire Fusiliers Compassionate and War Memorial Fund For The Assistance Of Members Of The Regiment and Their Dependents."

The memorial is in Portland stone and was designed and executed by Messrs. J. and H. Patterson, of Manchester. It was erected on a site given by the Mayor and Corporation of Salford, to whose care it was entrusted. The cost was borne by public subscriptions, amply generous as has just been seen, raised by a committee under the chairmanship of Colonel A. J. Bailey, C.B.E., T.D., J.P. ; the sum handed over to the Lancashire Fusiliers Compassionate and War Memorial Fund was £3,275 16s. 4d.

Secondly, the beautiful seventeenth-century Church of the Sacred Trinity, Salford, close to Manchester's Exchange Station and within three hundred yards of Deansgate, cherishes several memorials to the Salford Service Battalions. Particulars of them are given on a parchment tablet, fixed to a pillar near the north-west door. On the wall of the north aisle is a wooden triptych. Its centre, surmounted by a golden crown on a golden cushion, has in its top corners the words "Love Their Memory" and "Imitate Their Devotion" (quoted from the gravestone of Humphrey Booth, founder of the church and of the Booth Charity), and consists mainly of a representation in gesso of Christ on the Cross with Saint George kneeling at its foot ; whilst below, alongside the Regimental badge on a shield of Saint George surrounded by a laurel wreath, is the inscription "To The Glory Of God And In Revered And Honoured Memory Of The Officers, Non-Commissioned Officers And Men Of The Salford Battalions Of The Lancashire Fusiliers Who Fell In Action At Thiepval, France, On July 1st, 1916." The two wings record their names, a total of 15 officers and 256 other ranks of the 15th Battalion, 39 other ranks of the 16th Battalion, and 5 officers and 30 other ranks of the 19th Battalion. Below the triptych is a tablet recording its erection by Sir M. Barlow, K.B.E., M.P., C. E. Harwood, J. E. C. Lord, J.P., Mrs. Edith Hampson, Sir C. Mandleberg, J.P., G. C. Haworth, J.P., Mrs. E. A. Higson, M.B.E., Mrs. Heald and J. Higson, J.P., and its unveiling by Sir M. Barlow on 2nd July, 1918. It was restored in 1935 "by surviving comrades, relatives and friends of the fallen." The principal memorial to the Salford Battalions takes the form of parchments in glass-fronted frames, one on the outer (or aisle) side of each of the wood-panelled pillars of the nave, on which are recorded in old black lettering, with decorations in gold, the names of all members of the 15th, 16th, 19th and 20th Battalions who lost their lives in the war. Finally, the Colours of those battalions, received in the church for safe custody on 31st July, 1920, and kept for some years in a glass case at the head of the south aisle, were laid up—and since have hung down fully displayed over the nave—at a service on 10th November, 1935, conducted by the rector, the Rev. (later Canon) R. L. Hussey (to whom this account owes much), and the Rev. W. H. Fawkes, former chaplain in the 96th Infantry Brigade, at which the seventeenth Earl of Derby, K.G., P.C., G.C.B., G.C.V.O., T.D., unveiled and the Right Reverend F. S. Guy Warman, D.D., Lord Bishop of Manchester, dedicated the nominal rolls, the restored Thiepval triptych and the tablet on the north-west pillar. The initiation, financing and execution of these memorials were in the hands of a committee, of which Lieutenant-Colonel J. Ambrose Smith (who served in the 19th Battalion almost throughout the war) was chairman, Major C. V. Godfrey, O.B.E., Chief Constable of Salford, was honorary treasurer, and Captain S. H. Hampson, M.C., J.P., honorary secretary. They had the benefit of the advice of Mr. J. Hubert Worthington, O.B.E., F.R.I.B.A., the designer of the Euryalus tablet in the Bury Parish Church, who generously refunded his professional fee. A final deficit of £6 was discharged by the rector and parochial church council of Sacred Trinity, who have continued to take care of the memorials.

Battalion Memorials
(other than those already described)

While every effort has been made to ensure that the list which follows is complete, it has not been possible to obtain definite information about some battalions.

1st Battalion

In normal times, the fusiliers' institute holds a memorial tablet in oak, carved by Miss Alice Shaw, "In Memory Of Officers And Men Of The First Battalion Lancashire Fusiliers Who Fell At Gallipoli, April 25th, 1915." It consists of an oblong frame decorated on three sides with a design of laurel intertwined with a narrow scroll containing the pre-1914 battle honours, with the Rose of Lancaster in each of the top corners and the Victoria Cross in each of the bottom corners, the whole surmounted by the Regimental crest and scroll. Within the frame are five divisions, the centre recording the names of the officers, the other four those of the N.C.Os. and men of the four companies separately. The ascription is carved below the lists. It was unveiled in the gymnasium of North Dublin Union, where the 1st Battalion was then stationed, on 25th April, 1921, by Major-General G. F. Boyd, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., D.C.M., then Commander of Dublin District.

(Reference to the Swiftsure Bowl will be found later under Plate.)

5th Battalion

In addition to the brass plate in Bury Parish Church mentioned above, there is a wooden tablet on the eastern inside wall of the Castle Armoury, Bury, with the same wording as on the plate and the following battle honours on scrolls across laurel columns on either side of the inscription :—

HELLES	CAMBRAI 1917
RUMANI	LYS
YPRES 1917	SOMME 1916
BAPAUME	PASSCHENDAELE

6th Battalion

There is no memorial specifically dedicated to the 1st/6th Battalion ; but the Colour of the 2nd/6th Battalion hangs from a pillar within the altar rails on the south side of the sanctuary of Rochdale Parish Church, with the following inscription on a bronze oval-shaped plaque surmounted by the Regimental crest and affixed to the wall of the south aisle near by :—

THE GREAT WAR 1914–1918
IN MEMORY OF
THE OFFICERS, NON-COMMISSIONED OFFICERS
& MEN OF THE 2/6TH BATTALION THE LANCASHIRE
FUSILIERS, WHO GAVE THEIR LIVES IN THE SERVICE

8th Battalion

An oak tablet, with the Regimental crest, was placed on the eastern wall of the Drill Hall, Great Clowes Street, Lower Broughton, Salford, and unveiled on 18th September, 1921, by Major-General T. H. Shoubridge, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., commanding the 42nd (East Lancashire) Division. Beneath the crest, in inlaid letters of white holly wood, is the inscription :—

The Roll of Honour

"To be preserved for all time and as matters of Record to be available for reference" was the purpose, as set out in the charter of the Regimental War Memorial, of the Roll of Honour which was prepared by Major B. Smyth, O.B.E., M.V.O., from official and other sources. It contains nearly 14,000 names, against each of which is recorded the battalion, rank (and regimental or Army number of other ranks), theatre of war, date of death, and any decoration awarded. Where an officer or man was killed while serving away from the Regiment, for example with the Royal Flying Corps or Machine Gun Corps, this is recorded. The names of the officers are printed alphabetically, those of other ranks also alphabetically but by battalions within each letter. Each page is surrounded by a scroll showing the pre-1914 battle honours with the Regimental crest and scroll at the top and two crossed sprigs of laurel at the bottom. The title page reads as follows :—

TO THE
GLORY OF GOD
AND IN PROUD MEMORY
OF THE
OFFICERS, WARRANT OFFICERS,
NON-COMMISSIONED OFFICERS AND
PRIVATE SOLDIERS
OF
THE LANCASHIRE FUSILIERS
WHOSE NAMES ARE HEREIN RECORDED.

THESE GALLANT SOLDIERS LAID DOWN THEIR LIVES

IN THE
GREAT WAR 1914-18
AND 1919

"Unknown and yet well known ; as dying, and behold they live."
GEORGE R.I.

There follows an eloquent foreword by Lieutenant-General Sir Aylmer Hunter-Weston, K.C.B., D.S.O., M.P., former commander of the 29th Division and VIII Corps, in which he paid a generous tribute to the Regiment and the memory of its fallen. The whole was beautifully printed and handsomely bound in stiff slate-blue cloth, stamped with the Regimental crest and scroll in gold, with black leather back and corners, by Messrs. Tillotsons (Bolton), Limited, at Bolton. The number of copies produced was strictly limited, one each being presented to the Boroughs of Bury, Rochdale and Salford and the Officers Commanding the 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th Battalions and the Depot of the Regiment. They were handed over during the ceremony of the unveiling of the Obelisk at Bury on 25th April, 1922, by Major-General Sir R. H. K. Butler, K.C.B., K.C.M.G., then commanding the 2nd Division—on behalf of the Colonel of the Regiment (Major-General C. J. Blomfield, C.B., D.S.O.) whom sickness prevented from attending—in a speech in which, after mentioning Field-Marshal Earl Haig's deep admiration for the fighting achievements of Lancashire men, he stressed the fact that the volumes were not intended to be hidden away but to be available at all times, to serve as a reminder to all future generations to do their duty, as those men whose names were recorded on the Roll had done, no matter how irksome the conditions or how great the cost. The volumes were received in trust by the following :—

The Mayor of Bury	Alderman Charles Sanderson, J.P.
The Mayor of Rochdale	Alderman Samuel Diggle.
The Mayor of Salford	Alderman George Barker, J.P.
1st Battalion	Lieutenant-Colonel C. de Putron.
2nd Battalion	Major-General G. H. B. Freeth, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O.
3rd Battalion	Major M. Higgin-Birket, O.B.E.
4th Battalion	Colonel J. Aspinall Turner.
5th Battalion	Lieutenant-Colonel G. S. Lockwood, M.C.
6th Battalion	Lieutenant-Colonel G. Scott, D.S.O.
7th Battalion	Lieutenant-Colonel G. O. Ramsbottom, D.S.O.
8th Battalion	Major G. W. Sutton, D.S.O.
Depot	Major G. E. Tallents, D.S.O.

An additional copy was placed in Bury Parish Church. The copies allotted to the 3rd and 4th Battalions, which were never revived after the war, were eventually handed over to the Regimental Museum and the Serjeants' Mess of the Depot. Those given to the 1st, 2nd, 6th and 8th Battalions and the Depot were kept in black oak cabinets in the officers' messes and, like that of the 7th Battalion, shown to recruits. All the boroughs keep their copies in their Public Libraries, open for consultation by all who wish to see them.

The Silver Drums and Bugles

This part of the War Memorial consisted of a bass drum, two tenor drums, eight side drums and six bugles (two more bugles being added later), all in silver, with silver-handled drumsticks and silver buckles on the slings.

The bass and tenor drums are ornamented with the Royal Arms above the Regimental crest, the side drums with the latter only, though all drums carry also the Regiment's battle honours in two columns, below the crest on the bass drum, on each side of it on the tenor and side drums. On the backs of all are engraved the words

IN MEMORY OF OUR GLORIOUS DEAD
1914–1918

On the back of the bass drum there is also the following inscription :—

THESE SILVER DRUMS AND BUGLES
WERE PURCHASED BY THE COMMITTEE
OF THE
LANCASHIRE FUSILIERS
WAR MEMORIAL FUND IN 1921
AS A PORTION OF THE MEMORIAL
TO THOSE GALLANT OFFICERS AND MEN
OF THE REGIMENT
WHO GAVE THEIR LIVES FOR KING AND COUNTRY

THEY WILL ALWAYS BE HELD
IN TRUST FOR THE REGIMENT
BY THE
SENIOR REGULAR BATTALION
AT HOME

The silver bugles are decorated with the battle honours grouped round the Regimental crest, which is surrounded by a laurel wreath. Below is a Sphinx and "The Lancashire Fusiliers" on a scroll.

As stated above, the charter of the Memorial provided that the drums and bugles should be held by the senior Regular battalion of the Regiment serving in the United Kingdom. It went on to say that, in the event of there being no Regular battalion on home service, the question of their custody should be decided by Commanding Officers. (When both the 1st and 2nd Battalions were abroad between 1928 and 1930, they were held by the 5th Battalion.)

The senior battalion in the United Kingdom at the time of the inauguration of the War Memorial on 25th April, 1922, was the 1st, to whose Commanding Officer, Lieutenant-Colonel C. de Putron, they were handed over by Lieutenant-General Sir Beauvoir de Lisle, who said he hoped those who marched behind them would never forget those who had gone before and that the Lancashire Fusiliers might be always found the same effective weapon, unblunted by appalling losses, undismayed even in the days of non-success.

Plate

Though the officers' and serjeants' messes of several battalions received beautiful pieces of plate in memory of individuals—such as the silver model of one of the 30-feet service cutters of H.M.S. Euryalus presented to the officers' mess of the 1st Battalion in memory of Lieutenant G. G. Needham, who fell in Gallipoli, and the silver model of a machine gun with its ammunition box presented to the same mess in memory of Captain T. W. Cunliffe, who was killed while commanding the battalion's machine-gun section, also in Gallipoli—the only memorials of this kind, of a regimental or battalion nature, appear to be the following.

1st Battalion.—A two-handled silver bowl, 11 inches high and 12 inches across, with a representation of Lancashire Landing on one side and of H.M.S. Swiftsure on the other, both in relief, on a black plinth bearing the following inscription in silver letters : "Presented to 1st Battalion The Lancashire Fusiliers, by Rear-Admiral Sir Stuart Nicholson, M.V.O., and the Captain and the Officers of their covering ship, H.M.S. Swiftsure, April 25th, 1915. 'It is my firm belief that no finer feat of arms has ever been achieved by the British Soldier.'—Extract from Official Despatches." On the reverse side of the plinth in large silver letters is the inscription "DARDANELLES, 1915." In normal times, this generous gift occupies the place of honour in the centre of the dining-table of the officers' mess of the 1st Battalion on guest nights.

2nd/6th Battalion.—A bronze-metal German shell case, picked up in France shortly before the end of the war by Captain A. S. C. Fothergill of the battalion, 9 inches high and 8 inches in diameter, on the top of which are engraved the names of the fallen officers and a summary of the battalion's war service. The names of other ranks who fell are engraved round the cylinder. The trophy is mounted on a carved mahogany base, 5 inches high, and is surmounted by a flower-holder in bronze metal, designed in the form of a bursting grenade. The whole stands some 20 inches high. With Minden roses in the flower-holder the trophy is placed in the centre of the top table at reunions of the battalion ; at other times it is held by Captain C. H. Potter, M.C., (with Captain Fothergill the battalion's historian) who supervised the execution of the concept.

The Lancashire Fusiliers Compassionate and War Memorial Fund

As stated earlier in this chapter, the balance of the amount subscribed for the War Memorial, after the erection of the Obelisk at Bury and provision for the silver drums and bugles, for the Roll of Honour and for the cost of the appeal for funds and of the inauguration ceremony, was handed over to the Lancashire Fusiliers Compassionate Fund—a sum of £8,987 11s. 0d. from the central committee in Bury, a further sum of £3,275 16s. 4d. coming from the Salford committee as mentioned earlier in this chapter. This is therefore a suitable place in which to describe the origins, objects and history of the Fund which has been of inestimable benefit to many thousands of ex-members of the Regiment and their dependents.

Its beginnings afford yet another proof of the affection in which the Regiment is held throughout the area from which it has drawn its recruits and of the debt which it owes to those who live or work in that part of Lancashire. On 20th November, 1899, a meeting of the 3rd Volunteer Battalion of the Regiment was held at the Drill Hall, Cross Lane, Salford, when Colonel Lees Knowles (M.P. for West Salford, later Sir Lees Knowles, Bart.) moved and Colonel Frederic Haworth, V.D., seconded a resolution, which was carried unanimously, that a fund, to be called "The Lancashire Fusiliers' (Salford) Compassionate Fund", should be raised, transferred to two trustees and used at the discretion of the officers of the battalion for the benefit of Lancashire Fusiliers, whether of the Line, the Militia or the Volunteers. Second thoughts pointed to the desirability of putting the fund on a wider basis. The Salford Fund was therefore closed and, on Minden Day, 1900, the sum of £1,000 was transferred from it to the names of Colonel Frederic Haworth, V.D., and Captain Benjamin Smyth as a foundation for a Lancashire Fusiliers Compassionate Fund, the former becoming honorary treasurer and the latter honorary secretary. Messrs. David Smith, Garnett and Company, Chartered Accountants, of Manchester, were appointed accountants and auditors; they entrusted the work to the especial care of Mr. Joseph Wadsworth, who thus began a long and greatly valued connexion with the work of the Fund. War Office approval to the proposed rules was given on the 3rd September, 1900; and the Fund received the approval and good wishes of Field-Marshals Viscount Wolseley, Earl Roberts and Earl Kitchener.

The object of the Fund was to assist directly or indirectly present or past Lancashire Fusiliers, whatever the terms of their service, or their dependents; in later years the rules were expanded to allow the help to take the form of grants for the education of children as well as to relieve poverty or distress. The Fund was placed under the control of "Managers," who were the Officers Commanding the Depot and each battalion of the Regiment; later were added representatives of the Bury and Salford Prisoners of War Committees and of the Boroughs of Bury, Rochdale and Salford, in recognition of the large sums they had contributed to the Fund.

The Fund was generously supported in the year of its birth, the battalions alone contributing £770. It increased steadily year by year; by 1st August, 1909, the invested capital was £9,162, and £2,000 had been paid in grants. In that year Colonel George Edward Wike, of the 5th Battalion, became a trustee. A man of considerable local standing, he became well known to everybody who might possibly be induced to contribute to the Fund; and no journey was too long for him to undertake if he thought it might bring a donation or promise of a legacy to the cause which was always so close to his heart. Nor did he spare his own pocket: he gave generously to the Fund on many occasions.

When war was declared in August, 1914, it was realized that heavier demands would be made on the Fund and that, if the invested capital was to remain intact, some special provision would be needed. Colonel Wike promptly took the matter in hand and, from twenty-nine firms and individuals, collected a special fund of £2,052 which, with the normal income of the Fund, carried the managers through the war years. The increase in expenditure was indeed substantial. In the year 1913-1914, grants from the Fund totalled £408 5s. 10d.; in 1919-1920 they came to £1,146 19s. 0d. In 1914 a total of 123 men and women were helped; by 1916 the widows alone had increased from 37 to 100. The grants were available to all men of any battalion of the Regiment, except the 15th, 16th, 19th, 20th and 21st (Salford) Battalions for whom separate provision was made, as will be described later in this chapter.

In 1921, in view of the cheques handed over as part of the War Memorial, the title of the Fund was altered to "The Lancashire Fusiliers Compassionate and War Memorial Fund." In 1922 it received two large benefactions, in the shape of £12,944, the balance of the Bury Prisoners of War Committee's funds, and £10,969, the balance of Salford's similar organization. Though the battalions of the Regiment, and individual members and ex-members of it, have always contributed generously to the Fund—many adopting the custom of giving a day's pay every year—it could never have carried out its work so efficiently and freely if it had not been for the constant help of many supporters outside the Regiment, some of them relations of those who had served in it, but others with no closer link than admiration for the Regiment and appreciation of the excellent work of the Fund, its managers and officials, amongst whom special mention must be made of Major B. Smyth, O.B.E., M.V.O., its secretary for many years.

The Lancashire Fusiliers Prisoners of War Fund and Committee

The system which first came into being for the care of members of the Regiment who had the misfortune to be taken prisoner, provided for "adopters," mostly ladies who undertook to supply two or more prisoners with weekly parcels of food. It was managed by a small committee, of which Colonel Wike was chairman, Mrs. W. Bowes (wife of Major W. Bowes, afterwards Lieutenant-Colonel W. Bowes, D.S.O., quartermaster of the 2nd Battalion) honorary secretary and Major B. Smyth honorary treasurer. In the early days of this system, the food was sent in parcels under contract with a Liverpool firm; but this method did not prove satisfactory and was supplemented by the efforts of Mrs. J. A. Davenport (wife of Captain J. A. Davenport, who was wounded and taken prisoner at Haucourt on 26th August, 1914) and her helpers, by then 110 in number, who during 1915 sent 945 additional parcels of food and clothing, each of the latter including a great coat, a pair of boots, a suit and a set of underclothing. Somewhat later, despatch was arranged through a central depot in London under Government supervision. Colonel Wike's committee made no public appeal for funds, but received in all £1,067 from private individuals connected with, or interested in, the Regiment.

As the number of prisoners increased, it became necessary to establish a more public organization embracing the whole regimental area. The new body, whose first meeting was held on 18th December, 1916, consisted of the mayors of the boroughs and the chairmen of the urban district councils of the area, with the Mayor of Bury (Alderman James Hacking) in the chair. An executive committee of ladies was appointed, with Colonel Wike as chairman and Mrs. Bowes and Major Smyth in their original offices. There were local sub-committees, notably in Bury, Rochdale and Salford. The number of prisoners of the Regiment at this date was 305, of whom 157 were at that time provided for by various societies, leaving 148 to be looked after by the new committee, known as the Regimental Care Committee. The latter's first act was to set about raising £4,500 for the support in 1917 of its charges, whose number increased to 721 in Germany, 17 in Turkey and 2 in Bulgaria. For these the committee eventually became entirely responsible as the societies just mentioned ceased to act during the year. The boroughs and district councils were asked to make their own arrangements for raising the share of this sum which had been agreed with them. A house-to-house collection in Bury on Christmas Day, 1916, produced £361 19s. 4d. The 1st, 2nd, 4th, 6th and 11th Battalions also made generous contributions.

Though the number of prisoners continued to grow, the new system worked well as the cards of appreciation from them indicated. The German offensive of March, 1918, again seriously increased the numbers of prisoners and more funds were needed. At Colonel Wike's suggestion, a sale, on the lines of those arranged in London by the British Red Cross Society, whereby furniture, glass, china, pictures and indeed anything of value were given free and auctioned, was held in July, 1918, and the sum of £12,000 realized. Nor was the sale premature. For the number of prisoners in Germany had risen from 1,182 at the end of April, 1918, to 3,103 at the end of August. Fortunately, anxiety was relieved by the Armistice of November, 1918.

By that time the total amount subscribed to the Fund had been £66,272 7s. 6d. and the sums paid for food had come to £61,298. This was a magnificent achievement on the part of the Regimental Care Committee, which took legitimate pride in the fact that the Regiment's prisoners were being fully looked after without any appeal to any central or other war fund. It had entailed heavy clerical work on correspondence with the men, their relatives, Army Record Offices, other Care Committees and similar bodies; this fell on Mrs. Bowes, who handled it with skill, at first single-handed, though later she had the help of two typists and several voluntary workers and throughout the advice of Major B. Smyth. There was also considerable work, carried out at the Depot under the Committee's direction, connected with the packing and despatching of boots and clothing.

As already noted, the Bury and District and the Salford sub-committees handed over the balances in their hands at the end of the war to the Lancashire Fusiliers Compassionate Fund and were given representation on its body of managers.

The Salford Brigade Benevolent Fund and other Unit Funds

A full description has been given, in Chapter VIII of Volume I, of the very responsible work carried out by the Salford Brigade Committee under the chairmanship of Mr. (later Sir) Montague Barlow, M.P., in raising, equipping, administering and maintaining the 15th, 16th, 19th, 20th and 21st Battalions of the Regiment. Reference was made there to the Salford Brigade Benevolent Fund, which, starting with the balance of a guarantee fund raised to provide bands, additional medical appliances, dental outfits, sports gear, camp cinematographs and the like, undertook similar duties for those battalions to those discharged for the rest of the Regiment by the Lancashire Fusiliers Compassionate Fund. The Salford Fund owed much at its inception to the energy of Alderman I. Frankenburg. On his death, Mr. George C. Haworth, a member of the Salford Brigade Committee, became the Fund's treasurer. Messrs. David Smith and Garnett, the accountants and auditors of the Compassionate Fund, gave much-appreciated voluntary help, as did their representative, Mr. David Garstang. The Fund was generously supported and did most valuable work. When it finally brought its activities to a close in 1926 it handed over a balance of some £4,200 to the Lancashire Fusiliers Compassionate and War Memorial Fund to be used for the benefit of ex-members of the Salford Brigade and their dependents.

The only other similar fund appears to have been one raised for two other Salford battalions, namely the 1st/7th and 2nd/7th, and used to help their members, ex-members and dependents.

The Regimental Museum

Though not strictly part of the War Memorial, the Regimental Museum at Wellington Barracks, Bury, contains so many mementoes of the 1914-1918 war that it is only right that it should be mentioned in a chapter concerned with the Memorial.

There had for many years been a feeling that the Regiment should have a museum ; but it was not until 1930 that sufficient and suitable accommodation became available at the Depot. Major R. F. H. Massy-Westropp, M.C., was then commanding the Depot: he took up the project with great enthusiasm and energy, planned the lay-out of the Museum, arranged the structural alterations needed to secure the best display, obtained furniture, supervised the setting up of the show-cases and, with the help of Major B. Smyth, O.B.E., M.V.O., launched an appeal for gifts in kind for display and in money for the maintenance and extension of the Museum. It was given an excellent start by the offer of Mrs. R. S. Wilson to present the large and valuable collection of medals which had been gathered together at the cost of considerable time and money by her late husband, Colonel R. S. Wilson, who served in the Regiment for many years. Others, of all ranks, were not slow in following her example ; and exhibits of great interest, covering many periods of the Regiment's history, came in. Major Massy-Westropp was himself a most generous contributor.

The items in it which directly concern the 1914-1918 War are broadly the following :—

Medals and decorations, including several Distinguished Conduct Medals and 25 Military Medals.
Badge as worn by the 2nd Battalion ; and other articles of British and German uniform and equipment.
British and German grenades and other weapons.
Souvenirs and trophies, such as the German flag captured by a patrol of "B" Company of the 2nd Battalion on Saint Patrick's Day, 1915, near Le Touquet.
Pictures and sketches of France and Gallipoli.
Magazines, orders, maps, diaries and other historical records, particularly of the 2nd Battalion, many presented by Captain V. F. S. Hawkins, M.C.

The work begun by Major Massy-Westropp was carried on by his successors, Major L. B. L. Seckham, M.C., and Major F. Crawford, M.C. The former completed the setting up of the show-cases of the original gifts and made the arrangements for the opening ceremony, which was carried out by the Colonel of the Regiment, Major-General G. H. B. Freeth, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., on Sunday, 29th April, 1934. Major B. Smyth, O.B.E., M.V.O., whose advice throughout had been invaluable, gave a stirring summary of the history of the Regiment and so gave the museum its background. Serjeant A.

Gambie became the first curator, after 26 years' service in the Regiment.

The Museum speedily became popular and the pages of its visitors' book soon filled up. A custom was established whereby parties of recruits were taken round it by an officer and shown exhibits which illustrated and made vivid to them the Regimental History taught them as one of the aspects of their esprit de corps.

The custody of all articles and money received for the Museum has from its inauguration been in the hands of trustees, of whom the first were Major-General G. H. B. Freeth (Colonel of the Regiment, ex officio), Colonel C. E. Hartley, T.D., Lieutenant-Colonel R. Maxwell Barlow, M.C., Major B. Smyth, O.B.E., M.V.O., and the Officer Commanding the Depot (ex officio).
